

Speaker Profile: HEATHER C. WRIGHT

Heather Wright is an accomplished woman with a lot of stories to tell. As luck would have it, she's also a highly effective speaker who educates and informs her audiences in an entertaining way.

An attorney with over 20 years of experience, as well as a registered mediator and arbitrator, Heather is adept at identifying the most direct path to success for disputing parties, working to minimize the stress and fallout that can sometimes accompany these matters. Success in the courtroom and conference room has developed Heather into an engaging and interesting speaker.

"I was always interested in the law, history, and politics growing up, specifically the questions of who we are, and how we can best resolve our differences and our problems; that is how I represent my clients and what I try to share with others when I speak publicly."

This practical perspective infuses all her speaking engagements, helping audiences see the path to real solutions for their personal challenges. She has a well-developed ability to engage listeners and convey complex information and entertaining life lessons in a way that leaves them both motivated and excited to use their newly acquired skills.

Topics range from strategies for resolving specific legal and business challenges to broadly applicable skills that facilitate personal growth and success in any context, business or personal. These include:

- Communication
- Business and Employment law
- Dealing with and overcoming adversity
- Managing people and problems
- Having difficult conversations
- Leadership
- Discipline
- Making decisions
- Hiring and firing
- Ethics
- Proactive thinking
- Managing conflict
- Motivation
- Dispute resolution

Presentations can be tailored to meet the needs of various audiences and their specific goals or backgrounds. Contact us today to schedule Heather to speak before your group and see just what everyone is talking about.

Heather spoke to our group about Business Disputes. She was an informed, articulate and entertaining speaker. In another session, she shared her passion for Karate, instructing our members in self-defense and teaching us how to break a board with our bare hands.

Heather is an engaging and dynamic speaker, and one of the funniest and most entertaining legal educators I have ever seen. Her presentation skills are flawless. She is a natural storyteller and comedienne and an equally powerful and skilled attorney. I highly recommend booking her!
